As we journey along the path towards our aspirations, our surroundings seem as if in a constant state of metamorphosis, forever flowing as dependably as the passing of time. And with this passage of time, relationships change and evolve. From this chaotic medium we craft our destiny. Yet with each fork in the path, we leave others behind and our memories of times past are all that remain. The memories that we gather on our journey become a part of our being, binding to our souls and molding our character.

Through this chaos, the universe at times seems senseless, evoking pain unexpectedly. The sudden passing of our friend and classmate, Christopher Mitropoulos, threw us into a time fraught with sorrow and reflection. We will always cherish the joyous memories that he has given us. He will be deeply missed, yet within our hearts and minds he is immortalized by our memories of him.

The outlooks of Winchester High School students have been impacted immensely by the many ponderous events of the 2002-2003 school year. The experiences that we share with one another are intrinsic aspects of our personalities. Thus, it is essential to remember....

...things we did together

National Honor Society

Winchester High School's National Honor Society can only really be described in a few words. Those words are, integrity, prestige, and commitment to the needs of society. Every year a select few of the most academically accomplished students in the school are chosen to join this club. To join the club students must have and maintain a minimum of a 3.6 grade point average and even after those criteria is met; they must also be diversely involved in various community service activities to be accepted. This group of elite students is truly the cream of the crop and band together to perform many services to the community.

This year the Winchester High School chapter of the National Honor Society has been involved in a wide range of activities to benefit not only the town but any others around it. Volunteers from the National Honor Society helped to organize and execute the "Big Steps for Little People" fundraiser in which people are asked to donate money and run for the children of the Winchester Hospital Nursery. The National Honor Society is also involved in various building projects including one in which they assisted in building houses for the needy.

The National Honor Society would like to thank Mrs. Borsari for her tireless work with the group of which without they would be lost.

Student Council

As senior class officers, it would be your duty to wrap up the four years that your class has spent in high school and all the rest of the years leading up to them. When many people think of high school closure, they think of the senior prom, and that is the thought on the minds of the class officers as well. Due to the lack of dances in the past two years, the senior class has been forced to be more creative and resourceful. Their freshman year, they made the most amount of money. Their sophomore year, they became close to the faculty and the town. Their junior year they "bonded as a class and really tried to help" their community. Now, in their fourth and final year, the class of 2003 left their greatest mark. They started the year by successfully selling "Winchester High School" T-shirts at open house. They followed that with their "Kiss the Fish" contest, held during the fall pep-rally. Thinking about senior year, the class officers realized that the school had been deprived of class rings and decided to bring them back. Among other achievements the class officers successfully proposed a senior dance before the prom, set up a magazine drive fundraiser, and held the first "Mr. WHS" pageant. The class officers have been collecting their recourses to make the prom as memorable as possible and hope not to let anybody down.

HMC

Harvard Model Congress 2003 marks the third consecutive year in which students from Winchester High School have taken the initiative to manage the affairs of our country. HMC is a nationwide conference that takes place in the heart of Boston at the Prudential Center. Fifteen hundred students from schools across the nation gather to recreate an actual session of the United States Congress. For four days and three nights, the students engage in intense discussions and caucuses about the most controversial issues in the world today.

On the whole, this year's delegation did well, considering there were many fresh faces after the graduating veterans left last year. Recalls Timmy Lee, "It was a memorable experience." George Roby jests, "Where was Porter?". Mrs. Porter, the delegation advisor, was but a subtle presence at the conference, for self-responsibility is one of the most important aspects of HMC. There is a tremendous amount of freedom. The effort students put into the representation of their respective congressmen is directly related to how much they get out of it.

By the way, did those girls ever make it to Chinatown?

HMUN

Harvard Model United Nations shares many similarities with its counterpart, Harvard Model Congress. Like Harvard Model Congress, Harvard Model United Nations also takes place in downtown Boston. For a week during December, a group of twelve juniors went to participate in a simulation of the United Nations that lasted for four days and three nights. During this time, the students were able to grow close relationships while discussing the various issues of the world. The issues that were covered spanned a large breath of modern day topics, ranging from turbulent oil prices in the Middle East to the shortage of grazing land for sheep in Uganda, Africa. The group tried to accurately represent the views of the countries they were assigned, but the task was difficult and the pressures immense. Nevertheless the group proved that they were equal to it and they did Winchester High School proud.

The countries that were given to the committee this year for representation and discussion were Equatorial Guinea and Kiribatai. Mrs. Letterie and Mrs. Needham, the activity advisors, felt that this year's congregation was one "full of enthusiasm and spirit". The members of HMUN would like to thank their advisors for their outstanding work

Peer Mediation

Peer Mediation is one of the few groups that can truly be called a chivalrous organization with noble motives. Peer Mediation is made up of a group of genuinely interested students who settle disputes between students who are not getting along. Their goal is to deter students from solving issues physically and turning to the more civilized form of discussion. Peer Mediation is not just a local club but has gained national recognition in more than 500 schools nation wide.

Every year the group, led by Mrs. Simon, gathers a selected crew of recruits whom they train in the arts of mediation. The new trainees are asked to sacrifice three days of their classes to learn the difficult trade of diffusing heated clashes between students. During these brief hiatuses from school the students journey to the nearby Winchester Unitarian Society Church where they engage in challenging situations. During these focused seminars the alum are only allowed a short forty-five minute lunch in which they can take a break from their exhausting labors.

In the future the students hope to expand the program so that they can handle a larger demand from the school. The squad would like to thank Mrs. Simon for the support and guidance she has offered them throughout the year. For the year 2002-2003 this is Peer Mediation saying "Peace"

A Better Chance is a non-profit organization that places academically talented minority students into the top high schools around the country in an unfailing attempt to give them the necessary environment to excel in a challenging manner. The ABC house can be found on Dix Street, across from the Winchester Commons, and is easily accessible to the students involved in the program.

The students are held to strict and demanding expectations throughout the year in order to offer a home-like environment in which they can ascertain the most secure route to success. The students are expected to be in the house by 10:30pm on week nights for studying hours and on weekends have a curfew of 11:00 pm. On a social level the students must participate in extra-curricular activities for at least two-thirds of the year and are, of course, expected to stay away from drugs and attend school.

However, the students are not just expected to excel academically but must also perform certain community enrichment tasks. Every year the alum of the establishment run a traditional bottle drive to benefit the community. The ABC house is also involved in nationally acclaimed fundraisers such as the Walk for Hunger and the AIDS Dance-a-Thon.

Civil Rights Team

The Winchester High School Civil Rights Team was formed only three years ago at the beginning of 2000-2001 school year. Since then it has grown by quite a large amount. The civil rights team meets once or twice a month and discuss subjects like acceptance, tolerance, and awareness at Winchester High School. Other topics they have discussed include racism, sexism, homophobia, and diversity in Winchester High School, topics that are very important to many students in the school.

This year's team was headed by Mrs. White, a science teacher at Winchester High School. She was in charge of the group activities that the team did together. She brought a new level of excitement and commitment to the group because of her explosive personality.

In the past three years the Civil Rights Team has left its mark on Winchester High School. The Civil Rights Team has gone on retreats, planned assemblies, gone into the elementary schools and given a retreat for a local group.

This group has really come together to make a difference in the school culture in a way that can really be seen in the student body.

Spectrum

Spectrum, Winchester High School's Gay Alliance, is a place for people to come and talk, especially about issues pertaining to teen sexuality and sexual preference and how these things affect the rest of our lives. Spectrum gathers semi-weekly for discussion and food, and is generally known as a safe place for any WHS student to talk about their problems. Spectrum also works continually to make WHS a safe and comfortable place for people of all sexual orientations, as well as promoting diversity in general. This is Spectrum's eleventh year at WHS. 2002-2003 witnessed many important events for Spectrum. The group welcomed back their old advisor Frau Bennett, in addition to the continuing attendance of their returning advisor Mrs. White. Spectrum posted information around the school about GBLT issues and hate crimes and distributed rainbow ribbons for the students and faculty to show support on National Coming Out Day, October 11th. Spectrum also helped sponsor a town forum on youth GBLT issues, which was organized by PFLAG (Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays) and a number of churches and associations in the Winchester community. Other activities organized by Spectrum include the GBLT friendly dance and presentations that inform students on teen risk behaviors.

International Club

The International Club has been known for its amazing ability to unite the plethora of peoples that inhabit the Town of Winchester. Whether they are discussing multicultural issues, participating in multicultural activities or “chillaxin” in a generally multicultural fashion the International Club is truly a place where one can be accepted regardless of ethnic background. This year the group held various parties in which they discussed the complex nature of society and the universe all while “munchin on pizza” commented a youthful member of the International Club. The group which was led by Mrs. Dove, also the English as a Second Language teacher, also watched many movies.

One of these movies was based on the life of Rosa Parks. After seeing the movie, the group reflected on its incredible depth about the importance of playing an active role in speaking out against injustices. The International Club also walked over to a photo gallery in Winchester to view the diverse artistic photographs during the fall. During the winter the group took a trip with MCI and Art Club to view a Korean photo gallery and sample the messages that are interwoven in their craft.

The International Club would like to thank Mrs. Dove for the guidance she offered during her period as an advisor.

MCI

MCI, also known as the Multi-Cultural Issues Club, has been in existence at Winchester High School for twelve years. Looking at past years, MCI always had a somewhat good turnout, but this year marked what looked like a new interest. At the first meeting alone, around twenty kids showed up, more than there ever had been at an MCI meeting. This was also an impressive outcome considering the loss of many seniors the past year from the club. MCI has always participated in numerous events throughout the school year. This year, the club started out by hosting an ice cream social for the visiting Welsh kids that were at WHS on an exchange trip. This was a success at both warmly welcoming the Welsh kids and giving the Welsh kids and the WHS kids a chance to talk and introduce one another to each of their lifestyles. A second event that MCI organized was a trip into Boston and into Fisher College to hear a renowned speaker, Mr. Zinn. After listening to Mr. Zinn, students were able to ask questions and many people considered this a very memorable evening. The members talk about current issues going on throughout the world as well as in the school. The thing that makes this club unique is that the students have a considerable say in the issues being discussed. The students are encouraged to bring up topics and issues that they are just interested in talking about. The students thank Mr. Kurhajetz for his guidance

Art Club

Art Club is the longstanding institution of eclectic tastes and off-color humor that has somehow, under the noses of the regulars, managed to morph into one of the larger places of voluntary post-school gathering. Run by the "hip" and ever-chipper Ms. Jenn Levatino, Art Club is a place where you can come and hang out with the cool artsy folk, do work, chat like crazy, make fun of stuff with wild abandon, constantly criticize everything, and demonstrate obscure and peculiar taste in music. Last year Art Club was a small intimate gathering, where one could sit quietly and have a bit of a gab with some of the other unwashed mis creants that attend WHS. Last year, we had exoduses complete with abrupt, and often times, short musical jam sessions. This year however Art Club has exploded into the hearts of the masses. Art Club has progressed into a louder, though often times more productive environment. At Art Club we have a few rules: Rule 1: Do not talk about Art Club. Rule 2: Do not waste materials. Rule 3: Clean brushes save lives. Rule 4: Do not, under penalty of severe verbal maiming, put a dirty knife in a clean can of paint. Finally the all-important Rule 5: Art Snobs are Deep. In these several rules and ideas one will find the true essence of Art Club.

Photo Club, unlike Art Club, is a quiet time to contemplate the meaning of life and translate those feelings and thoughts into simple yet elegant black and white prints or, for the adventurous, into color. One of the coolest teachers around, Mr. Gillis, supervises Photo Club, bringing his down-earth and darkly humorous personality into the mix. His mission for Photo Club is to be as little like a club as possible. There are few rules, no membership barriers, and even the set day for Photo Club (Thursday after-school) puts no bounds on when Photo Club actually occurs. Photo Club happens whenever any person feels the urge to immerse themselves in the serenity of the dark room. As Photo Club affiliate Geordie Wood says, "Photo Club is not as much a Club as it is a state of mind. When it's your first time at Photo Club, you develop photos." The experience of the subtle reddish glow of the dark room, the eternal aroma of chemicals, and the quiet clicking of timers is enough to create bonds that last forever. Once you go Photo, you can never go back; Photo Club instills a sense of peace with the world, a Zen harmony, in all that attend. In closing, Photo Club would like to share its motto with the rest of WHS; "Envelop while you develop".

Concert/Marching Band

The Concert Band is conducted by the band director, Ms. Miller. The Concert Band is actually an intricately woven combination of the schools Concert Band and Jazz Band. This year the concert band performed its annual concerts of the Winter Concert, Band Fling Zing, Strawberry Pops, and the Band Dance. They also accepted an invitation to perform in front of the eyes of the world, Disney World that is. The band and the rest of the music department went to Disney World in early December. The band played a variety of pieces that vary in length and difficulty. One of the compilations performed by the band was a compilation of multiple songs including music composed by John Williams.

The Marching Band is also conducted by the band director, Ms. Miller. Ms. Miller is also helped by Claire, and the Drum Majors. This year's Drum Majors were senior, Kara Conway and junior, Alberto Acosta. The marching band performs at the home football games, and the parades in town. They also marched in the Woburn Halloween Parade and moved the crowd with their smooth tunes in their red and silver clad uniforms with commandingly black helmets. The 2002-2003 Marching Band leaves these last words of wisdom for future Winchester High School Marching Bands "keep the sun on your shoulder and keep on marching off into the sunset".

Jazz Band

The Melodies of the WHS Jazz Band soar from a solid foundation of drums, guitar, bass, and piano. The trumpets put forth their brassy, robust tone and the saxophones skillfully interweave their graceful notes. The flutes add their elegant, airy voices while the trombones contribute their truly unique sound. Together, the various musical talents of the Jazz Band blend to create a mosaic of jazz tones. At the front of the room stands the most vital member of the band, shaping and refining the Jazz Band into perfection. Baton in hand, Ms. Miller skillfully conducts the group, molding masterpieces based on years of musical experience. For her masterful conducting, humorous anecdotes and occasional outbursts we are truly grateful.

The 2002-2003 year was one of a new beginning. With a very significant number of musicians having graduated, the band was full of new members. Utilizing this raw musical talent Ms. Miller crafted the mixture of newcomers and seasoned veterans into a well-oiled machine. Working hard from the very start on songs like Margie, the Jazz Band steadily improved and began to play as one. In time for our first concert in January, the Jazz Band had once again achieved greatness. For this, the band would like to thank Ms. Miller for her outstanding job.

Chorus

Envision golden robes, a singing tree, fake snow and Mickey Mouse. No it's not a horrible hallucination but the Winchester High School Chorus' trip to Disney World. After much anticipation the Winchester High School Chorus finally embarked upon their glorious journey to the magical land of Mickey Mouse. Under the skillful direction of Mrs. Reihmier, they amassed an impressive repertoire of Christmas carols and ventured forth into the realm of Walt Disney. Needless to say, a spectacular time was had by all in the far away imaginary land of Florida.

Upon their return, they bade Mrs. Reihmier farewell for a short while as she went to get her hip replaced. In her absence, Mr. Greer took her place as choral director. Mr. Greer did a spectacular job in preparing the Chorus for the February concert. However, we were very happy to have Mrs. Reihmier back a few weeks later.

The rest of the year is history. The Spring Sing Fling was awesome and the Strawberry Pops was outstanding. The chorus is looking forward to a fun and productive new year as they sing their way to our hearts with tear jerking hits like "Choose Something Like a Star". The chorus would like to give thanks to Mr. Greer and Mrs. Reihmier for their unending support and patience.

Octets

The Winchester High School Octets are proud to be the number one cappella singing group at Winchester High School. True, they're the only one, but it still makes them special. The team had an undefeated season, ending the year with a record of 28-0. This was due largely to the valiant efforts of the captains, and the vigor with which the Octets tackled every song. Their coach, Lynne Rahmeier, was also instrumental in this year's successes. "We had many good guys, and this gave us a huge advantage over our opponents. We're already working on strategy for next year," said Rahmeier. Many fans worried that the team would be hurt by the loss of more than fifteen of the Octets' star players at the end of last year. Captains Kate "Canadian" Cosgrove, Will "Deputy" Bailey, Jason "Big Guy" Parkhill, Danielle "Punk Rock" Colby, and Eric "I'm Canadian too" Meunier worked hard to bring the team up to par in time for their first game. From then on, it was win after win for the team. They took a short break in December to travel to Disney to play with the Winchester High School Chorus. Upon their return, they faced a difficult "Christmas Party" tournament. The Octets fared well, and went on to play in the Spring A Cappella Fest and the famous Final Concert. The Octets will be losing many key players next year, but Rahmeier remains hopeful. "We've done it before, we can do it again." With such determination, the Octets will no doubt continue their winning streak into the coming year.

Red & Black

Once upon a time there was a newspaper, and that newspaper was called the Red & Black. With the efforts of dedicated reporters and photographers, along with a plethora of editors, a newspaper manages its way into hands of the student body every month. Not sure what's going down in the high school? Everything that is anything is in the paper... and it's free! The head editors, Laura Anglin and Elisa Donnelly, basically sacrifice any and all social life when a deadline is approaching. Of course, sharing a room with the Yearbook Staff is one of the Red & Black Staff's greatest delights. Sometimes they just hang out so they can experience the wonder and magic that envelops anyone sharing a space with yearbook people.

The Red & Black has been a tradition at the high school since 1939, and it has certainly made itself a part of every student's high school experience. Whether it's the "Car of the Month" article, or the editorial page, there's something for everyone in every issue of the Red & Black. Everyone and anyone is welcome to write or take photographs for the paper. The Red & Black is written and edited entirely by students, which makes it truly a student produced paper. The high school is undoubtedly proud of this age-old school custom.

Literary Magazine

Manchester High School has always fostered a rich literary community among its students, and its product is published in the school literary magazine. Under the new editors Christina Barber and Xiao-Wei Wang, the literary magazine is trying to make itself a force in the high school. The literary magazine has been published for several years now, but this year it seeks to establish more of a presence in the school.

The magazine features work by students from all grades, including fiction, poetry, non-fiction, artwork, photography, and anything of a creative nature. Students enjoy the ability to have their work published and recognized, and the magazine allows others to see what their peers are capable of. It's exciting to see how much high school students can accomplish creatively. Students have always appreciated this outlet to express themselves.

While news and opinions are ever changing, there is always room in the literary magazine for your ideas and self-expression. The world is reflected in our arts, and it is important to appreciate the significance of having such a publication available to them. Look out for massive growth in the literary magazine, and watch as it expands to become as popular as the school newspaper.

Tech Crew

Tech Crew is a group of students that provide support for any functions that happen in the auditorium. The crew helps out with everything from large productions such as the musical, to small assemblies. This year the tech crew started off by helping a group of Welsh students with their production of "Our Day Out" when they came to perform for the community. This was the only large production for the tech crew due to the cancellation of the fall drama. The Tech Crew also provided assistance for the pep rally. The head of the crew was Micheal Hall. He was supported by seniors Courtney Brander, Emily Leathers, Steven Waterbury, and Luke Breuer. This year there was also a large participating body of Freshmen and Sophomores. This year the musical was "The Wiz". For this show the Tech Crew brought in a large amount of equipment. The crew also regularly makes excursions to Friendly's and BK. This is how the crew acquired its large collection of BK kids meal toys. The crew has also been known to not sleep and take random late night field trips. "In remembrance to all of those who are moving on "you will never be forgotten, and you will always have a home in the booth". "Never forget the great times had in the booth and Auditorium". "We are more than a crew, we are a family".

Film Club

The brainchild of Andrew Spieler, the Film Club has flourished at the high school. Members celebrate the art of film-making by watching movies, talking about movies, writing movies, and filming movies. Andrew is well known throughout the school for his passion for film, and this is the physical manifestation of one of his many dreams. Students flock to the club to share their enthusiasm for the culture of film and film-making.

Through discussions, the group is able to express their ideas and opinions concerning certain movies. Students are also able to express their ideas concerning movies that they would like to have made. This year the Film Club is working on making their first full-length film production. The filming began in February, and the Club looks forward to showing off its end product. It is an all-student production, with students doing all the acting, directing, writing, set-design, costume-design, make-up, lighting, and everything else involved in producing a movie. The Club is certainly making a presence in the school, and hopefully will continue to grow. The Film Club would like to thank Andrew Spieler for his constant dedication, and hopes that it can keep the spirit of the club alive after he graduates this year. Outing Club

The Winchester High School Outing Club entered its second year under the guidance of Mr. Masi. The outing Club is dedicated to organizing and running various outdoor activities. Thanks to Mr. Masi's outdoorsmanship and willingness to sacrifice his weekends, the club has been able to run a variety of adventurous trips. In the Past, they have included backpacking, skiing, biking, rock climbing, and kayaking. Though the Outing club has done a large quantity of extreme sports, it is still open to suggestions in order to acquire the thrill of being outside.

This year, the outing club ran several trips. Rock climbing in the Melrose Fells proved a fun venture.

The area was an excellent location for beginners to learn the ropes of the rock climbing trade yet challenging enough to challenge even the most stalwart of climbers. In addition, a winter backpacking trip with the Concord-Carlisle outing club to New Hampshire's Mount Chicorua was attended by many a member. Despite high winds, ice, and one unnecessarily close encounter with a large 44.1 meter cliff with a frozen pond at the bottom, all participants summited while still avoiding severe injuries. Other highlights included frozen boots and the requisite post trip McDonalds stop. The Outing Club once again had an epic year under Mr. Masi's tutelage.

Math Team

The pressure was on and the team members sat on the edge of their metal seats. They know that the scoring of one skillfully thought out point could mean the sweetness of victory or the bitter taste of defeat. With their tools of the game, a Ti-82 or a Ti-86 for the fortunate, poised for the lightning speed calculation of integral or inverse trigonometric functions, the participants of the game bow their heads in contemplation of their predicaments. Suddenly Emily Leathers, a key element of the team, lifts her head from its bowed position as a bead of sweat rolls off her brow and she smiles. Its because she knows the truth. She has answered all her problems correctly and tipped the scales of victory in the favor of the Winchester Highschool Math Team. The team was led by the scholarly Mrs. Manoogian with an iron fist and a menacing math book at hand. Yet her strong yet soothing arm of guidance helped the team in immeasurable proportions.

This years team attacked the year with admirable furor. Seniors David Wang, Emily Leathers, Laura Anglin, and Ted Hammond led the team to many a satisfactory results on the Middlesex Math Team playing field. Captains Laura and Ted rallied the new Freshmen presence to their full potential and set up the alternate squad for future success in Math Team related events.

SOS and SADD

The SOS and SADD clubs, also known as students Offering Support and Students Against Destructive Decisions, have been actively meeting this year with an incredible vigor displayed by the record amount of alum participation in the programs and a record number of members to the club itself. Advised by school psychologist Mr. Markowitz and clinical counselor Ms. Kurnick, students have been busy planning events for this school year.

SOS and SADD's Primary Mission is to provide information and education to the school community about a variety of topics related to personal development as well as physical well-being. In the past, the club has organized events on topics such as stress management, depression, suicide, gay and lesbian issues, and body image.

This year, students in SOS and SADD again organized a program on depression and suicide, with the freshmen as their target audience. Plans to do a presentation to High School faculty on depression and suicide were also carried out. Among other plans, the SOS and SADD members administrated a sexual health informational session in the winter to be presented to the entire Junior student body. Throughout the year SOS and SADD truly informed students

Musical

This years musical was the "Wiz". This production was a beautiful piece of work. The production was directed by Brian Milouskus, who has been directing the high school musicals and dramas for the past several years. The choral director was Ms. Moreta who is the middle school choral teacher. The lead cast members were Kara Boodakain as the Wiz, Alana Morreals as Dorothy, Mike O'Brian as the scarecrow, Jess Hodge as the Lion, and John Deperna as the Tinman. The cast in general was very large with several smaller roles, and a large chorus. Mike O'Brian also did a beautiful job creating a large mural on the back wall of the auditorium. In front of the mural and in the pit there were also several pieces of scaffolding to complete the set. For this production the pit performed several very difficult musical scores to complement the vocal work of the talented cast members. They also provided music for the beautiful and intricate dance numbers, that were so beautifully choreographed. The Tech Crew, and Stage Crew as provided vital support for the success of the show. This production in general went off with very few complications. The cast and crew would like to thank Mr. Milouskus for the incredible effort that he puts into his shows year in and year out to produce a musical that is of a professional level that can be enjoyed by all.

The 2002 Winchester High School Girls Tennis squad maintained the commanding tradition that is known by all surrounding towns as outstanding tennis in Winchester High School. This year's team will be led into their season by captains Carly Robinson, Molly Lynch, and Kim Palumbo.

This triad helped the team to near domination of the Middlesex League for the 7th consecutive year. With a line-up of nine seniors, the team finished the season as League co-champions with Lexington High. During their campaign they racked up twenty-two wins and lost only twice, once during regular season and once during the post season.

The seniors that were on the team for the 2003 season were Kate Cosgrove, Molly Lynch, Kim Palumbo, and Carly Robinson. The Juniors on this year's team were Emma Goehring, Wei-Jen Hsieh, Katie Campbell, Sarah Martin, Katie Nicholson, Brittany Vitello, Kasey Row, Kristin Tripoli, and Carolyn Ferrick. This strong presence of Juniors will help to maintain the Dynasty that they already hold.

Of course not all of the team success can be wholly attributed to the incredible efforts of each individual alone. The team required coaching and guidance to keep focus and discipline. The team would like to thank Mr. Barton for this guidance and the wisdom that he offered out on the tennis courts day in and day out.

Though their team was unstoppable during the regular season they were even more so in the postseason state tournament. They defeated team after team until they reached the semi finals. Though the team had executed a near perfect year, fate was not with them on that day. Their rise to power was cut short in a very close match against Andover.

To the left, we can see the tennis team is all about discipline just from the concentration apparent on Cynthia Campobasso's face as she serves the ball to her opponent with style and precision.

Boys Tennis

The spring of 2002 served as a witness to an amazing season for the Winchester High School Boys Tennis Team. Led by Captains Josh Blaine and Raymond Chang, the team closed out with an impressive 15-3 record, capturing third place in the Middlesex League. Returning talent included the two senior captains, as well as a plethora of exceptional juniors and sophomores. The team boasted a solid single lineup. Junior Brian Kelly continued his dominance at the first singles position, with freshman extraordinaire Chip Palumbo at second singles and junior upstart Ashwin Murthy provided solid support at third singles. The doubles teams secured critical wins for the team during crucial matches. Also, a notable addition was the new coach, Paul Shagrue, who led the team to victory in his first year of coaching.

In a town like Winchester, where superstar talent sometimes overshadows those who are somewhat less celebrated, due respect should be given to other members of the squad as well. The Swedish-Asian Alliance, composed of Ted Hammond (the man from Sweden) and Dave Wang (armed with the dreaded Asian Sting) put on a stellar performance at their doubles matches, making opponents weak in the knees. Also, sophomore Eugene "Smirnoff" Svirkin stepped up his game, as well as Joe Martin, who is on the road to varsity fame.

In the state tournament, the team was granted a bye and met defeat at the hands of Wayland. However, early disappointment did not mar hopes for the future. With a new coach and more upcoming talent, the WHS Boys Tennis Team looks towards the future, where the horizons are endless

In the recent years, the Winchester Girls Lacrosse Program has made a name for itself in the state of Massachusetts, due to the player's determination and diligence. The 2001 season marked many landmarks for the team, including qualification for the seventh consecutive year to post season competition. Under the coaching of Mrs. Ontso, the Boston Globe's 2000 "Coach of the Year", the Winchester Girls Lacrosse Program had exciting plans for the 2003 season. Of course key players from last year's roster were sorely missed like seniors Melody Agnew, Ashley Armstrong, Liza

Baer-Kahn, Michelle Bussichella, Katherine Campbell, Morgan Ebeling, Patricia Higgins, Erica Lee, Miranda Mirabella, Meaghan Moriarty, Elizabeth Purchia, and Jacqueline Stone. On the other hand

Boys Lacrosse

The Winchester High School 2002 Varsity Boys Lacrosse team had a truly outstanding season. The team was a dominant force throughout the season and in the tournament as well.

The source of success for the team is up to many interpretations. Many people attribute the success of the team to its quick and hard offensive strikes that allowed the team to finish games with incredibly high scores. However, one enthralled Winchester High School student commented that it was definitely the rock-solid defense that saved the day, and that allowed the sachems to finish the season with the record they did.

The team was helped by strong showings from seniors Adam Delaney-Winn, Hisham

Hassan, Brad Harvey, Nate Werlin, Stephen Bowler, John Cvinar, Stephan Gregory, Alex Lapointe, Eric Baer, Nick Grobe, Peter Elefante, Jeremy Kutner, and Eric Powell. These players led the field game after game and acted as role models and guides to the younger players on the team who were rising through the lacrosse program.

Mr. Pirani was also one of the factors that led the team to taste the sweetness of success. He provided a strict environment in which the players could maximize the benefits of his training program and give the most effort possible.

Girls Spring Track had yet another phenomenal season with a spectacularly gargantuan amount of student interest boasting over twenty-three participants by the end of the season.

Their 4 by 100m team included standout senior Natasha Kayulu, and received state recognition for their times in the state championship.

Though the team had an impressive running squad, it did not completely rely upon that facet of track to rack up its many victories. The track team earned many of its points through its nearly omnipotent fields squad which included many key throwers such as discus and shotput throwing super star Kelsey Wegner. Kelsey Wegner would earn nearly ten points every meet to give the team the extra boost it needed to earn many of its victories.

More of the the team's success can be attributed to the long distance team and its disciplined efforts at every practice running from five to six miles each practice. Among the long distance runners of the team are Christina Dill, Stephani Garlow, Megan Julian, and Sarah Wilson.

The team would like to thank Mr. Cantillon for all the help he has offered the girls during the season.

Boys Spring Track

The Winchester High School Boys Spring Track squad has truly been one in a million this year. It was made up of a group of kids that can really be considered special. In fact they were so special that head coach Mr. Kline came out of retirement simply so that he could instruct this group of kids in the arts of track and field. Among the seniors of this squad were William Crabtree, Chris Masi, Jeff Vanderkruik, George Wood, Matthew Gallagher, Leigh Tinmouth, McCosh Thayer, George Roby, and Brett Pahigiannis. Among the juniors were Manuel Gonzalez-Rivero, Andrew Potter, Andrew Castronovo, Kevin Gallagher, Morgan Santhamoorthy, James Tenner, Mark Tempesta, and Tom Wootan.

During this year Coach Kline used a more unorthodox method of captainship. He decided to make every senior a captain in shifts. During a captain's "term" he would be responsible of rallying the troops so to speak and guiding the younger members of the team in technique of the various events and discipline in their particular events. This method helped to produce great performances from the non senior members of the team.

The team would like to thank Mr. Kline for the commitment he brought to the team and the many life lessons he has taught its members.

The 2002 Winchester High School Sachem Softball teams caused opposing teams to tremble in their shoes. It was the first year in many years that Winchester High School was able to field three teams, freshmen, junior, and varsity. The three teams were coached by the diabolical Coach Squeglia, the infamous Coach Mac himself, and Coach Penie. All three coaches inspired their players to reach new unsummited heights of which the likes no one has ever seen before, and always to commit their best effort to any endeavor they attempt. The freshmen team was made up of both freshmen and sophomores from both the JV and varsity teams. Coach Penie took on both the freshmen and JV teams every day. Coach Penie always kept the players busy with drills and technique work. However, Coach Mac and Coach Squaglia got to teach the varsity and JV teams. Due to the huge success of the freshmen team the previous year the JV and varsity teams were of a near professional caliber that kept Coach Squaglia and Coach Mac excited beyond their wildest dreams. The team mowed down team after team with their awesome abilities to work together and destroy the competition. The team would like to thank their affable coaches for all their support.

Baseball

The Winchester High School Sachem Baseball team continued its illustrious career this year as it had in its previous years. It's dominating pitching staff, inspiring leaders, and strong coaching were some of the prime factors that led to the success the team reaped throughout the season.

The captains of this years team were Scott Lombardi, Charlie McLeman, and Joe Sheehan the teams leading pitcher. These senior captains assisted the team in many ways that allowed for an easier environment in which the team could flow as one.

The captains would give helpful hints to the younger members of the team on topics ranging from batting form and pitching techniques to grades and life issues. Not only would the captains help the viscosity of the team, they were also key team players that made necessary runs, pitches, and defensive plays to win games.

Joe Sheehan for instance was the top pitcher of the team and stunned batters into submission with his incredible curve balls and blistering fastballs.

The head coach of the team was Mr. Pagliarulo, a former member of the New York Yankees, and he truly knew how to run his team to tip top efficiency. The assistant coach was Mr. Elio who helped the boys in all of their batting and fielding needs

Gymnastics

The Winchester High School Sachem Gymnastics team is truly a versatile group of girls that goes far beyond the athletically demanding sport that is gymnastics. As a team they would hold together through thick and thin on subjects that are outside of their sport. They are an overwhelming source of support and strength for all members of the team.

This year's team was able to put together a record that was above a 50% winning average. This is no small feat in the challenging league they must face year in and year out. The key to their success can be seen in their strong captains that kept the group together through all issues that arose. The team was led by two junior captains and one senior captain this year due to their outstanding performances in the past year. These captains, Andrea Zampitella, Marlena Mirabella, and Nicole Trakimas displayed skill and discipline beyond what is normally expected from the average gymnast. These girls helped to utilize the full potential of the other athletes to earn the maximum possible points during each meet and thus create the record they were able to turn out.

Ms. Lentini, the head coach, truly hit the ground running as far as managing the team considering that it was only her second year leading the team and the gymnasts would like to thank her for it.

The Winchester High School Sachem Girls Basketball team has dedicated many of its efforts toward the improvement of both their game and their social involvement. The team has managed to create improvement in both incidentally.

This will be the third consecutive year in which the Girls Basketball team has reached the state championships. On their way to gain eligibility to join the state championships the team has defeated one opponent after another until it earned its better than .500 record.

On the other side of the coin, the team has volunteered many hours to social services. Among these services was the mentoring of a group of young Girl Scouts in the arts of basketball. The team had several practices with the girls and allowed them to observe one of their high speed and exciting games.

What exactly is behind this powerful team is up to interpretation. Some say that it is their ceaseless drilling that perfects their techniques. Others say that it is their commitment to outside activities that allows them to stick together as a cohesive unit. Whatever the cause is, it is certain that they have an invaluable coaching staff. The team is led by Coach DiSarcina whom without the girls would be lost.

Boys Basketball

The Winchester High School Boys Varsity Basketball team had a great 2002-2003 season. The season began with an incredible streak of victories. The streak not only included several close games, but also two thrilling last second victories.

There were also many exciting events for the seniors of the team. Alex Popp, the Winchester High School Boys Basketball team superstar exceeded the 1,000 career point's mark this year with over 1,150 points scored in the past four years. Only three other players in Winchester High School history have ever broken the 1000 point mark. Their names are Mike Morrison, Bob Bigelow, and Brian Keefe.

The team captains of the group were seniors, Brian

Kelly and Alex Popp. They led their team by their courageous display of skill and bold offensive strikes into unknown territory against their opponents.

The team also had a very powerful defense with Jeff Vanderkruik as its headstone. The 6' 5" defensive weapon threw out blocks left and right batting down the competition in an impressive flurry.

Coach Dale led the team to many victories as well. There are very few games in which the coach can not be seen intensely giving instructions to the players before and during each game.

It was a season of new hope and much anticipation of the events to come. With a new outstanding senior presence, the girls were able to dominate many of the running events. Many of these seniors also ran during the fall in cross country and also during the summer as a collective effort for the team to stay in shape until the season began. Among those seniors who did this out of season self training was, Cha-Ling O'Connell, Tara Tully, and Katherine Armstrong. These seniors truly displayed what the Girls winter track team was all about through their clear level of elevated commitment. Other key non senior runners and throwers were Megan Julian, Ainsley Kimmet, Jaclyn McGowan, Meghan Montgomery, Alyssa Ockerbloom, Lucy Osborne, Jill Palladino, Katharine Spencer, Brittany Vitello, and Barbra O'Connell.

As a result of this strong commitment, the girls were able to support a state ranking 4x100m relay team and an intensely competitive shot put team led by Kelsey Wegner.

The head coach of the girls this season was Mr. Cantillon, the psychology teacher, who has been the coach for many countless years and has done an excellent job with the girls. The girls would like to thank Mr. Cantillon for the great job that he has done and the effort he has put into the team.

Boys Winter Track

The Winchester High School Boys Winter Track team seem to have made winning their hallmark with their third straight winning season in a row. Led by Coach Cantillion, the seniors marshalled the team into a force unknown to the middlesex league. These seniors were William Crabtree, the 2 mile specialist, Devon Fitzgerald, Brett Pahigiannis, sprinter and thrower, Giovanni Santos, long distance runner, McCosh Thayer, Hurdler, and George Wood, high jumper.

When asked what led the team to victory, Paul Richard, a second year veteran, said that it was without a doubt the incredible sprinting crew that the team was able to muster. The team held was made up of three of the top five sprinters in the state, including junior, John Dawley, senior Brett Pahigiannis, and junior Phillip Dei.

However, sprinting was not the only factor to the team's success. The team also had the running power house, William Crabtree, who manages to run two miles in break neck speeds that are of nigh ten minutes. In the shot put the team has Brett Pahigiannis who puts the 16 pound shot over 40 feet.

The team would like to thank Mr. Cantillion for the time and effort he put into the mannaging and training of every member on the team.

In only their third year of activity the Winchester High School Girls Hockey Program has become stronger and stronger as the years roll by. Because of their success last year, the team faced many new and more difficult teams including those who are playing at a D1 level.

This years team was led by senior co-captains Collete Irving, Kaitlyn Dillon, Robin Harvey, and Carly Robinson who had very close relationships with every member of the team which helped create a cohesive group that won games.

This year, the team has been able to be much more selective with the instatement of the JV team. This allowed the coaches to pick from a wider variety of talent to create the best possible hockey team. One example of this was Jackie Graham, in her second year of play, once again showed the necessary skills to be considered one of the best players of the league and thus was named a Middlesex League All-Star. In addition to this offensive pressure were captains Kaitlyn Dillon and Robin Harvey who both can eloquently place the puck in the back of the net during the most difficult and essential moments.

The team's success can be found in their record which was achieved through the hard work that is emphasized through the program. Coach Johnson is an excellent coach who helped bring the team many victories.

Boys Hockey

The Winchester High School Sachem Boys Hockey team has been a truly versatile team, which was able to survive the ups and downs that have been thrown into its path of travel.

With the sudden death of their close teammate and friend Chistopher Mitropoulos, the team had to adapt to the sudden loss of such a close friend and integral piece of the team. Though most teams would understandably fold from the emotional distress caused by such a loss, the team squared its shoulders and used this emotional fuel to fight on as hard as they could for their fallen com panion. Of this, nobody can deny simply because of the incredible season they led. Their record lay nearly unmarred by the impurities of defeat and shone like a star in the wilderness that can sometimes be used to describe the league that is known as Middlesex. Though they did not continue on to the Super Eight tournament, they did classify for the State Tournament and did incredibly well.

The team advanced all the way to the finals of the state tournament and played their hearts out at the Fleet Center but was just one goal short of a victory that really could have gone either way.

The team would like to thank their coach, John Messuri, and the seniors for all the moral support that they gave to the team so that it could keep its hopes alive and play as best as they possibly could

The year 2001 was a season full of accomplishments, hardships and great memories for the cheerig squad. The captains of this year's team were seniors Amanda Ferazzi, Krystle McNutt, and Caitlin Sheehan. This year's team had a good amount of representation between the four levels of high school. Normally this would serve to separate the team and not allow them to perform the best cheers possible. This was nowhere to be seen in this years cheering team. Whether it be in cheering or in matters of life, the team stayed unified and offered each other a level of support that was unprecedented in any other team in Winchester High School. The seniors, Caitlin Sheehan and Krystle McNutt, in particular helped the new freshmen members of the team, Kristen Alford, Patricia Connolly, Christine Johnson, Dina Massery, and Katrina Timlin, adjust to the demanding sport and keep up their grades.

This year, the team worked exceedingly more hard than last year in order to prepare themselves for their competition at the end of the season. Because of this, the team performed at a greater level than last year and pulled through in the competition.

Fall Cheering

The Winchester High School Cheerleading team represents everything that the school stands for. They are spirit incarnate and give all teams, no matter what their record may be, the hope to push through their games and finish on top even if it means sacrificing heart and body.

The 2001 team put on a show to help rally the football and soccer teams, in particular, to victory. The team seems to be everywhere to spread their good time cheer from the dummy burning, football dinners, toilet papering, hamster dances, sleepovers, of course, the famous varsity teammate posters that consume so much of their time and effort.

This year's team seemed to have some extra little pep in their step and put on a great pre-turkey bowl pep rally that led the football team to a fierce battle against the infamous Woburn Tan-ners.

Because cheerleading is such a draining sport, both physically and mentally, it was an absolute necessity that the team be utterly supportive of all teammates in order to get through the season with the vast amounts of routines and success they did, not to mention the reputation they had to maintain.

The team would like to thank Coach Sullivan for her efforts.

The Girls 2002-2003 Winchester High School Swimming and Diving Team has had a wonderful season this year with upperclassmen presence to be a true Middlesex swimming powerhouse.

Seniors Kara Boodakian, Katherine Armstrong, and Kristen Laramie have done quite a job in whipping the girls up into shape in near military fashion. The team warms up with a 500 meter swim, 200 meter kick, and 200 meter pull nearly every morning at 5:00 am and it is a small wonder that they are in the excellent condition that they are in.

The team has much to brag about when it comes to the diving genera of the group. One of their members, Kristen Laramie, is one of the greatest divers in the league, and skillfully somersaulted her way into the State Tournament.

The team is not only skilled in the ways of diving. The team also has an amazing butterfly swimmer named Kara Boodakian. Kara is known throughout the league for her swimming prowess in the butterfly and her stunning wingspan that allows her to send a wake behind her as she swims leaving her opponents in the dust.

The team is also lucky to have such a great presence of underclassmen to train for the upcoming season when the seniors have left. To lead them into battle is Alena Krystofolski, a girl known for her true heart and grit, and Emma Goehring, who is known for her incredible speed in the water and her parties that end in the classic eating of dessert bowls.

Whether the team is great or not, they know that they will have a "heck of a lot of fun" according to one underclassman swimmer.

4:50 am – the alarm clock beeps loudly and you wonder why you ever even joined the swim team. 5:05 am – stumble around looking for your swim bag. 5:10 am – eat something. 5:15 am – a senior captain pulls up outside your house and you step bleary-eyed out into the cold. 5:30 am – you arrive at the MHS swimming pool and head to the locker room. 5:35 am – you sit in the locker room and wonder if it's all just a bad dream and you think about how cold the water will be. 5:45 am – you slowly step into the pool and swim for the next hour. 6:40 am – shower.

7:00 am – go to school. 7:45 – 8:32 am – sleep through A Block. Repeat Monday, Wednesday and Friday. While the swim team went 1-4 for the season, their team spirit was unmatched by any other team in the league if not the state. Mr. Masi was able to skillfully transform a rag-tag bunch of high school students into a rag-tag bunch of swimmers. Under the guidance of senior captains Steve Waterbury and Dave Wang, the boys' swim team was able to break a 2-year losing streak with a stunning victory over Revere. Who knows, with seasoned veterans like Glenn Marmon and Manny Gonzalez-Rivero, the swim team may be on the road to a championship sometime in the future.

The Winchester High School Boys Wrestling team has created somewhat of a dynasty over the past few years and has given Winchester a reputation in the Middlesex league as a wrestling power house in the state.

This year's team was led by seniors Jonathon Blackham, Ryan Sheridan, Christopher Masi, Daniel Fiorenza, Sam Mencher, Scott McLean, Michael Simmer, Sang Kang, Thomas Demasi, Stephen Homsey and Nick Grobe. Throughout the season the team fought match after match as though they had been possessed by the will to win and the determination to work hard for victory.

This year's team took home many wins and though they did not match their undefeated record of 19-0 from last year, they still had an impressive season. A season that was helped along by the wrestling efforts of Jonathon Blackham, Ryan Sheridan, Travis Tremblay, and Jonathan Boyer-Dry. The team was able to put forward several members of the team in the state tournament and all contestants did an outstanding job.

Though the team had impressive individual records, the most impressive aspect of the team was its teamwork. This was a team where if one man fell to the ground, there would be another right behind him to pick him up and help him continue his training sequences.

Another factor that helped the team viscosity and fluidity the outstanding coaching. Coach Tramblay is an accomplished coach and has rallied his team to winning over 360 matches in his career. This is something very few coaches in the US every do.

The team would like to thank the coach for all of his tutelage.

To the left, Sam Mencher gets ready to slam down his opponent and take home the second of a consecutive victory

Football

This year's 2002 Winchester High School Football team has been one of extremely high moral character. It is a team that is all about work ethic, determination, and self improvement. Their coach, Coach John Donahue did everything possible to rally the team to victory and gave many inspirational speeches like, "It hurts when you put the effort in and don't win, but it's even harder when you don't put the effort in".

Even after they received much criticism for their somewhat lack ofuster and disappointing season this year, they still kept their chins up and put up a great fight against the very difficult Middlesex league.

They were always the quickest team to get out there on the field to run drills and practice as hard as humanly possible to bring their game to its zenith. Because of this somewhat sadomasochistic approach to training, they were able to put up quite an impressive fight against their long standing rival, Woburn, during the Turkey Bowl.

The team would like to thank Coach Donahue and his associates for all the time and effort they put into the team with a wide variety of jobs, ranging from reviewing game tapes to heavy drilling.

Boys Cross Country

The 2002 Winchester High School Cross Country boys enjoyed yet another successful season. The team not only had fun but at the same time attained a winning record for the second season in a row. Under the Leadership of Mr. Cantillon, Mr. Masi, "Coach Janet", and captains John Blackham and William Crabtree, the guys finished the season with an outstanding record.

This incredible feat would not have been possible without the friendships, humor, and good spirits shared between each member of the guys cross country team.

The promise of great snack bags following every meet including team favorites such as the Handi-Snack and Luna Bars also provided inspiration enough for the numerous victories. With the team practices such as the hill workouts, time trials, LSD runs, occasional game days, and the favorite quasi Bacon Loops, the guys were all in peak condition to run to the best of their abilities. When sickness attacked the team mid-season, many of the guys were forced to sit out of the meets because of their fevers and a variety of other ailments. However, the guys pulled together and through their support got well enough to pull out with a winning season.

This years Winchester High School Field Hockey Team was truly spectacular. The team knew that they were well prepared to take on the challenges of the Middlesex League, and beyond, as soon as preseason captains' practices started during the summer at the beginning of August. The team reached levels of play that are comparable to the era in which Aga Siemiginowska played goalie for Winchester High School and did not taper off as many pessimists felt would happen.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Ontso, the team was able to excel under the most strenuous situations.

The team was led by seniors Jessica Colton, Ashley Cooper, Kathryn Cosgrove, Caitlin Davis, Elisa Donnelly, Suzan El-Rayess, Victoria Guido, Monica Hayden, Molly Lynch, Talene Nargozian, Laura Pratt, and Allison Sreter with a conviction that wiped the team up into the necessary fitness level that is required of their rigorous sport.

The front line of the team was commanded by Ciki Guido, Jess Colton, Susan El-Rayess, and sophomore, Michelle Tavener.

Golf

The sun is shining, the birds are chirping, it is a warm day, the grass is very green, the sky is blue without a cloud in the sky. This is the typical conditions in which the Winchester High School Golf team operates under. Even though the pressure is on during the matches against their Middlesex opponents, they always manage to find a way to enjoy themselves. Whether it be Eric Oliver's deft skill of juggling a golf ball with a 9 iron, or Ben Taylor "annoying the neck out of Eric Meunier" the team always seems to be having fun.

Yes, they are a very care free organization, but still they manage to pull in the wins season after season under the command of their fearless leader, Coach Walsh. Coach Walsh gives the students of the game as many pointers as he possibly can. The team's motto seems to have become "you will only go as far as you put effort in". This motto seems to have gone to heart with the players of the team because they are always down at the country club every day until the darkening hours of the day, driving balls, lifting weights, or putting on the greens.

This year's seniors, Matthew Garvey, Brian Kelly, Christopher Lynch, Eric Meunier, Eric Oliver, and Benjamin Snyder managed to lead the team into many wins even though they had a large freshman presence.

The Winchester High School Sachem Girls Soccer team story has been one of success for the last twenty years. The reason can be traced back to the superb coaching that the girls receive from Coach Scanlon who has led the team to State Championship after State Championship for these last twenty years.

This year seemed to be no different than the rest, except for the incredible amount of seniors present on the team. This year's team was led by seniors Natasha Kayulu, Amanda Hill, Kristina Axon, Kara Conway, Caroline Doctor, Ashley Hudson, Robin Harvey,

Aine Kennedy, Robyn Kennedy, Laraine Lennon, Molly Moriarty, Renee Ockerbloom, Caitlin Powers, Diana Peretti, Carly Robinson, Rebecca Schoenherr, Nicole Trakimas, Rachel Vanderkruik, Tara Tully, and Alexandra Wilson, who act as such a mature group that it is amazing that they do not share one

mind, though at times it seems so.

This year the girls made the State Finals and won to become State Champs for the third time in the last four years. The team would like to thank Coach Scanlon for his guiding hand and the assistance that Coach Norton provided the team early in the season.

Right, Amanda Hill jumps up to head the ball down to the ground.

Below, Amanda Hill goes hard to the ball to win the 50-50.

Boys Soccer

This year's Winchester High School Boys Soccer team started out with a Bang. The team racked up several consecutive victories without a single defeat.

These victories can be attributed to the quick style of play that is an integral part of Coach Austin's master plan for each game. During his practices, his strategy is quite evident because of the vast amounts of time the coach has them doing wind sprints, perimeters, up downs, abdominal workouts, and good old jogging. To prepare the kids for this rigorous work, the coach has a summer program in which many of his students choose to take as a form of physical conditioning.

The team is a tight knit one because of all of the physical labor that they have to endure together. They have great times playing soccer, running, and eating together during the team dinners.

In the front line of their athletic machine are forwards Charles Khuen who runs like a road runner and handles the ball with incredible dexterity. In the midfield is Paul Mike Austin, who was raised on soccer and can place the ball anywhere on the field from a free kick. In the back is defensemen, Trevor Doe who is an impermeable wall that will let nothing through.

This strong athletic team did a great job this year.

Special Education

Spreading Knowledge Across Disciplines

The Special Education program at Winchester High School is truly one of its most accessible and affable programs. The people who work in this program are people who truly care about the many needs of children during modern life. They help the students to deal with all problems that may arise ranging from academic distress to problems at home.

This program uses many methods to reach its children in the most effective way possible. One of these methods includes playing basketball with the students so they can create the most comfortable environment for their students to release tension and allow the counselors to help as much as possible. The Special Education center is the binding force to the social aspects of Winchester High School and is much appreciated.

Administration

Running WHS Smoothly Every Day

The Administration of Winchester High School is truly a versatile organization. It was able to cope with paralyzing budget cuts and adapt to staggering re-staffing.

This year Acting Principal Mr. Olsen placed Mr. Perani as his Assistant Principal and former Math department head Mrs. Laramie as the secondary Assistant Principal.

Through all of this re-staffing the administration also had to move and change the locations of several clubs and activities to accommodate all of the new clubs, activities and new organizations. One example of this is the removal of the Yearbook and Red and Black offices from in front of the English Department and up to the third floor offices alongside of the Science Department.

The efficiency and speed in which they acted was very admirable.

SAIL ON ALYSSA

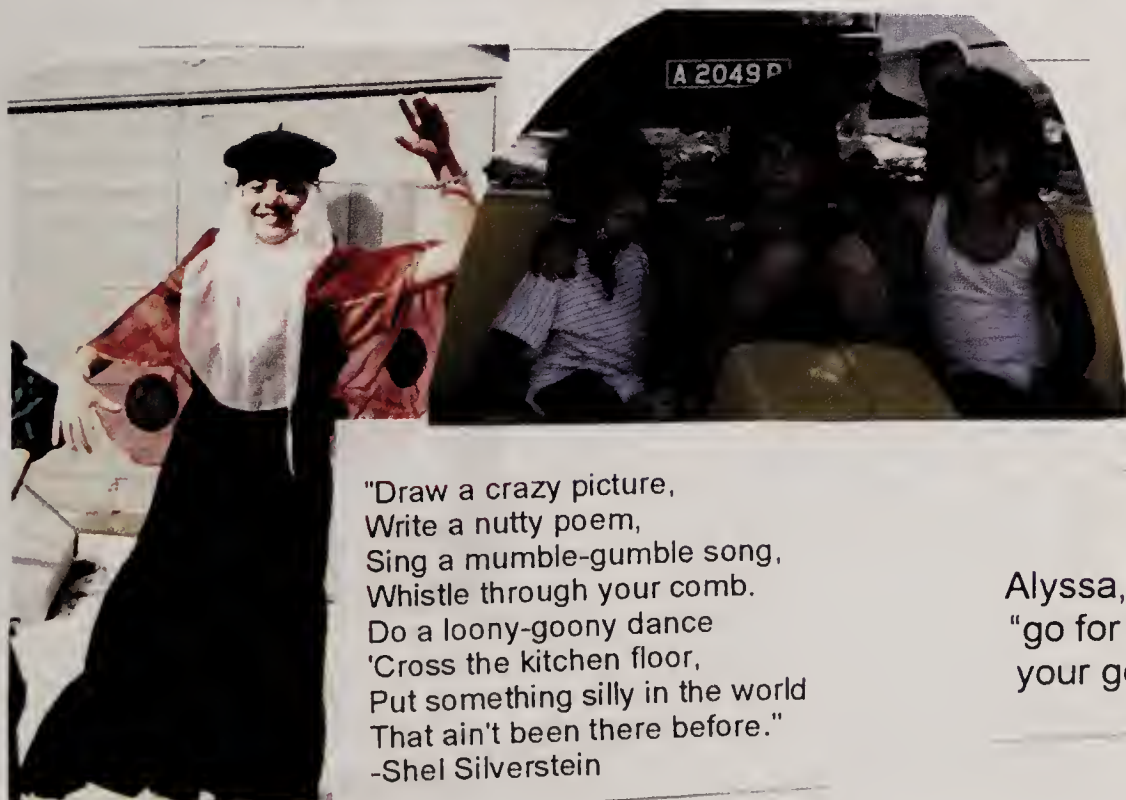

WE ARE SO PROUD OF YOU

XXXOOO Mom, Dad, Cassie, Leanne and Nana

Alyssa, tu has sido la mejor hermana que cualquier chica podia tener. Gracias por todo que tu has hecho para mi en todo mi vida. Mas que una hermana, tu eres una de mis mejores amigas. Felicidades por 4 años excelentes.

con muchisimo amor, tu hermanita, Cassie

"Draw a crazy picture,
Write a nutty poem,
Sing a mumble-gumble song,
Whistle through your comb.
Do a loony-goony dance
'Cross the kitchen floor,
Put something silly in the world
That ain't been there before."
-Shel Silverstein

'My' Alyssa brings fun memories of her rolling down the grass at Greystone beach and right into the water, at age three or four, 'so long ago'!

She – beautiful and shy for her first dance with John P.

May you remain as thoughtful and Loving as I know you to be.

Nana Anna

Alyssa, follow your instincts and "go for it"! I know you can achieve your goals. I love you, DAD

Kara Boodakian

"Enthusiasm is one of the most powerful engines of success. When you do a thing, do it with all your might. Put your whole soul into it. Stamp it with your own personality. Be active, be energetic, be enthusiastic and faithful, and you will accomplish your objective. Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

Nico,

We are all so proud of you. You are the son and brother who, although the youngest in the family, has taught us all to approach life head on. You are a friend to all who know you and your philosophy of acceptance has inspired us. As you enter college, never lose the inner strength that motivates not only yourself, but those around you. Your love of music is contagious, so, you will understand when we say, "Whatever tomorrow brings, I'll be there with open arms and open eyes". Keep your arms and eyes open, and never forget how much we all love you.

Every year the yearbook staff requests that the students submit candid pictures that the staff could use and insert into the book in various places. Most of the time the pictures are not true candid shots but more to the point, there always seems to be a few Senior students that appear every batch of pictures we receive. The three most ubiquitous of these students were without a doubt Ted Hammond, Lauren Capraro-Gentuso, and Kara Boodakian. The following few pages are dedicated to these three students and are used to display the many pictures the staff has received over the first couple months of the year.

Treen- "I never thought looking back on us laughing would make us cry and looking back on us crying would make us laugh" I love you! You are my fav cuzenT. Love drinks with orange and pink straws, bill and bobs and eating more than most guys will stay in my mind forever. I'll miss u. Marianne-Pocatundi! Mexico, yea ur the whole country. Best friends since 5, I love u. maine, cole mark, "sleeping" at laurens house, pimping it in the mummy van. I will miss u soo much you are my Mexican sister. LyLaS Shannon-shaaaaroonn! "Don't be dismayed at good-byes. A farewell is necessary before you can meet again. And meeting again, after moments or lifetimes, is certain for those who are friends."

To My Friends: Thanks for always being there for me. Thanks for the advice, the laughs, and the hugs. You're the reason I've made it through these past four years! Good luck to everyone and goodbye until we meet again!

"Call it a clan, call it a network, call it a tribe, call it a family. Whatever you call it, whoever you are, you need one."

"Happiness is having a large, loving, caring, close-knit family in another city."

Mom and Dad: Thanks for caring enough about me to drive me crazy! You're there every time I need you (even though I often don't appreciate it at the time). Thanks for putting up with me and pushing me to always do my best. You have taught me my most valuable lesson: how to love and how to live. I love you!

Jenna: My favorite little sister! Thanks for making me laugh and cry - no one does it better than you do. Despite how aggravating you can be, I'm going to miss you. You're an amazing person and you deserve the best. Find a few close friends you can trust and stand by them. Try your hardest and you'll get far. Be yourself and make me proud. (I might even let you visit me at college.) Luv ya!

LIZ BENCH

Team Gina- love you guys--thanks for an awesome summer and a great year!!! Friendly's Fribbles, Orange Sherbet Slammers, and plenty of french fries--why do we even bother looking at the menu anymore??? R.I.P. Tiagos--oh wait, he was deported???? Who was it that got you all backstage to meet Butch Walker at Collegefest??? oh right, that would be me!!! "so you grew up in a town where everybody's all the same, like a city full of zombies going by the same name, saying eat this, wear that, think ya know just where it's at, when everybody's just alike, now tell me how you deal with that, there's a right way, then there's my way, there's a highway, if you don't like it you can take it, so just walk away, I don't hear a word you say, I'll be my way, if you don't like it you can take it" (me, obsessed, what???) D-you will wear the purple pants to graduation--I command it!! "smack," 3 hrs in H&M, "Bucknell, I thought that was a swear word," "tellers, like sellers," "freak, freak of nature, freak of nature's daughter" Kara-this one time, at band camp... "I've got a golden ticket," our boy Tom Brady, Nomah, powder puff football, huge manatees, spanglish (maldito sea--Feliz Navidad), London, police log, youth group--oh Sal...len-I'll never forget going down a 4 lane highway in the Princessmobile--the wrong way!!! "jigga SHUT UP!!!" London, Disney, dorchie pride--I still have your karaoke talents saved on my computer DaniC- "mind the gap," "Simon the bird says, YOUR MOTHER!!!" "look at the tree, look at the tree, look at the fn tree!!!" "Do you have any idea what I just said???" Courtney- "I denied it!!!" "Is it still blinking???" sposabepeashes, Joe Schmo, library breakfast club (hot chocolate and cookies) Prissy-yeah, Gwen definitely showed us all the picture--but I made your ugly lipstick pretty with my mad decoupageing skills!!! Johnny D-boy, you're insane, but I love ya anyway!!! NCNS brats for life!!! Nick-one word: coconuts Mike-you're still no angel Scuba Steve-the airport daycare dude, intense card games--see, I do love you!!! Jessica-Sr. Parkhill, you have forever tainted the word, "oy" Tuba Tom-watch out for that trash can!!! I fell asleep in math again--is it time to go to orchestra yet??? you wimp--the cinnamonos are the best!!! Alby-I'm always there for your firsts--love ya chico!!! Akna-my partner in crime--rowdy fourth grade CCD classes, children on sugar highs, "Who Wants To Be A Religionaire?" Xinowei-thanks for saving me from the mosh pit--I got kicked in the head by a crowd surfing buffalo!!! peace rallies and indie rock boys Tommy boy-my rosin supplier--what will I do without you??? Sarah-front row firsts (even though the freshmen totally show us up) Becca-dorchestra and wizpit--the tacets are definitely our favorites!!! Jason and Cack-back row firsts--if you can't play it, fake it!!! who're you going to get to sit on the edge now??? Kathryn-thanks for the mosaic tips--I am so joining the sailing team!!! D.Cass- wizpit insanity--it's better than lack of sleep on top of a sugar high!!! Tyler-stop making me laugh, I'm trying to yell at you!!! Shang-poor little froshie, corrupted by Jen Porchestra-rock on, "it's Friday, HAPpy Friday!!!" To all others--just because you're not in here, doesn't mean I don't love you...I just...uh...forgot about you...sorry!!!

"Be who you are and say what you feel, because those who mind don't matter and those who matter don't mind". -Dr. Seuss To Mom and Dad-I'm more grateful than you know. Thanks for everything; you've given me so much, especially those intangibles that are most important. I wouldn't be here without your support. I love you. Justin- little Gentu, don't feel like you have to match my graduation record, be good for Mom and Pops. I love you and I'm going to miss you lots. Beth- Ten years and counting, from play dates with Samantha at 10:30 AM to dinner dates and Sunday night Starbucks sessions. You're the one person I've truly grown up with. I love you. Cind- My rollie who I love. In 6th grade you wanted to be my friend? It all started with a trumple and a pair of drumsticks; clearly my twin bed was made with a space for you in it. So many laughs and many more to come. Jess- Oh Blmb, I thought you hated me freshman year. How untrue that turned out to be, after all, we are lovas too. Most of what I want to say can't be said here for whatever reason, but I love ou and "whatever happens, we'll get through this together." Katie- Blznatchee for life, oooweh, Jimmy Mamos, Queens. Moll- Go! Cheerio? A certain someone's eyebrows, and Witout nafs, beatdown in the bathroom at the Fours. Rain- I love gyooooold! Sorry about not sharing! Aine- Aggie, uh, Aga? Bubble, mmbouley's tiny candy cane. Carly- Lets remember who oalled you that night, yee dawg work it. Cyatlin-How annoying is that? F&T? Octets- I wouldn't trade our rowdy Thursday nights for anything. I'm so proud I got to be a part of such a crazy group. Kate, Alanna and Sam- Carry on our hotheese. Kara- We've finally made it out of here, especially sway from a certain teacher's grose food references, what will the Karens do without us? Lael prom countdown ever, but who will be our date? Moll- Keep wearing that spoon for me, make sure Ash does too. Not to be forgotten- sophomore eleepover, Fresh/Soph lax and field hockey, Sr. Dia, Gerry'e class 10th grade, the incriminating roll of film fiasco, Pats Rally 2002, Soccerball especially post-2001 Willy Wonka eesh, Olspatch '01 and 7027, Oave '01 and '02 when Hal took a trip to Ushville, CRT retreats, New Years 2002 (... In a sweata veet, at...! Moll (you coo Cho), thanks for driving so I could play rapist), Olasney, girls dates, Costa Rica, summer 2002 outta town adventures (jelling duck, time out Dug, "dey..." someone's grandma, "while you were downstairs getting...". Yur, NKOTB, lata babee, York's Animal Kingdom, Unkure Owners down the street, light shows in the parking lot, Tucker & Tim, Giltta, reverse sunscreen at Sharon and Cray's, water bottle desperation when Kwiss had mono, did someone open their glasses case? Max- breakfastfeasts, digestion walks and dkiely needed Altoids. Eric- post-Fire and Ice ehoutouts, Fatty McAtty, RIP Hal. Deeg- Did you see my...? Bottle-gagging in Skehan's class, Uger mask and firefighter's helmet. Jules- Bam, ekelchy drawing that represent your secret desires, those I will definitely miss. Zant- Johnny G loves you, so come over and wear his overalls again, maybe he'll even let you borrow the car. Shmiles- Your turn to rule the school, many more eeseons and good talks to come. I love ya Filar. Nick- I got's agita, dare I say Rico Buave? You are one hilarious chocha. Jeff- You kll me, and brighten every day Q. YC and Camp Crew- Now my Monday nights are free! I'll be returning in a couple summers to feed the need for water play, rattles, fishyfishy, assault by 8 year-olds, our own [redacted], and that red ehirt ldd. Pick and Nick- Sachems forever, I'm coming back for staff parties because summer would be missing something without you two. Much love to- Deb (inseparable McCall days I'll never stop smiling about), Kristen and Stef (Tyarty live on), T-to-the-Rash, AJ (makeup time in math almost every year), Rebecca (RIP Sho), Caitlin (when are we gonne ehare some 151?), Erika (our buying experience, we miss you!), Meg (call me when you find Billy), Meyark Shee (that'd be Marc, four in the bed, remember that?), Cherries (both of you), Ryan (BMA's 2001 with the fam), Chris D. (popo, scatall), and Swise (keep the Volvo club going ehong). To the class of 2003- There are so many of you that I care about, you've all touched my life and will be missed. Best of luck to everyone!

Joey-brother,jax,wondering where we're gonna sleep,smackin the creepster at goof's house lamma-neighborhood football,spruce st. posse,camp,quine's house goof- naw I'm gonna be a sophomore, golden guy creepy- freshman year H2Otown,keady's house,11 months and counting zampo-beach,scuzzy,bill&bob's viagra man spoofy-I told you you'd get it on turkey day, toniiiiite jlaw-super bowl,feeding the fish, NewHamp jimmy, tnoles, giggles-you're the future make it count Jackie-things change but you'll always be the same cristina- walks home,boxing,working this summer, the rat Katie-sloot,flashlight tag, funfetti Amanda- NewHamp,ex-wife Burke-boat,fabrication of the truth Mom,Dad,Kim,and Andy-love you all and look forward to all are time together, to everybody else I'm sure we've had some good times thanks for everything

Mrs. Branley You're the Best!

Hello, and Welcome to William Crabtree's blurb part of the yearbook where I say dumb stuff and refer to inside jokes. XC: We had our best season this year. I expect next year to be even better! Work hard in the off-season and do plenty of long runs. Next Year's Captains: keep everybody working hard. Keep andup and onyerbutf-erfly going, of course. Build up the pack. New Runners: You're the future. Work hard. "Somebody may beat me, but they are going to have to bleed to do it." - Steve Prefontaine Hey Sssshhha-awhhnn: keep eating that cereal, if you li-ike. Join the jazz band. McMurry: don't loose your music, good times walking home talking about buckmeister(?) fluorite bikes. Learn to play loud enough for both of us. Jazz Band: next year you won't be graced with my beautiful T-Bone playing. Please try to survive. Colorado Trip People: I will remember those three weeks forever, especially EL DIENTE. Wooten: epic 70 milers, dodging traffic, biking down Horn Pond Mountain, Fells. Conversation runs in rainy weather: all good times. Bol: thanks for doing XC, and in the next race I will beat you (maybe). Comboy: Water you doing? DCass: continue beating everyone else in the music world. "Ask your self. 'Can I give more?' The answer is usually: 'Yes.'" Paul Tergat "I take nothing for granted. Now I have only good days or great days." - Lance Armstrong. Anybody else: just imagine what I would say. It probably has to do with running.

Kiera Culhane You're one of the many things that make me face the day, I'm so glad you're here with me. -The Starting Line Heather-well what can I say kid, its been fun, eh? Too many good times to remember, but big steps is def. up there. Sweatpants anyone? Yea I thought so...Driving around doing nothing and listening to music, was fantastic. Thanks for always being there. Jessie- where to begin, I don't know. There have been too many great times. Thanks for always keeping the drama to a min and always being there, you're one in a million. Nurny- it's been an adventure kid, what can I say? Late night talks at the skate park, trying to be deep on Halloween, or just chillaxing in the mini, there were many good times. Warped 2002, speaks for itself. Alyssa-don't worry I didn't forget you kid. No matter what happened there were good times that deserve a mention, rollin' in the Benz, dynasty runs, and my first car accident, all classics. Shannon- good times, your 18th at Dicks and kickin' back at the YC, your toilet paper brides maid dress...no words can properly describe it. Danielle- or should I say Donyelle, good ole' history. Bonding over family stories...those were the times. You got a voice like no one else, so use it! Suzie Q- hola chica! Que paso? Don't worry I haven't forgotten about the infamous bet. Gill- remember back in the day, Mr. Pantsman? My how things have changed, some day my microwave and tuperware theory will be recognized for its true genius. Danny-when in doubt, get a slurpee. Danny you rock, especially with a sweater vest. Christian-its been fun kid, whether it was chilling in Harvard Square or making Spanish videos, it was a hoot. Cait- keeping it copasetic at the YC and stalking bands, yea Starting Line. PS Cait, we rule. Shauna-its been a long road, thanks for being there and sorry for everything that I have put you through, I love ya more than you know. Dani- hope this isn't too embarrassing for you. You always make me laugh, little sis, I love you to pieces. Now * was that so horrible? Jamie- hey Jamie, it was so funny...Keep it real kid, and even though it never is SO Funny, I still love you. Kyle-can't be easy being the youngest in the fam, but you have managed, and turned out alright. I love ya kid. Mom+Dad-it has been rough but worth it, thanks for always being there for me and helping with making me who I am, I honestly couldn't have done it without you. I love you all.

To my boyz, Brad, Martini, Galenofio, Bowser, Provy, Ty, Black Ham.

To my ladies, Marianne-Jones
all the others you know ^{Creeper} who you are and Casandra.

To everyone who made high school as buck wild as it has been for me, it's been real Provy, Bowser, freshman, Martini, Ty, Gunther, AJ, Galleno, Tim, Stefan, Richie, Nate, and Dibiasi we always did our own thing and got out of control being the best at what we do To all the ladies you know who you are it's been an experience Godzilla you know I'll see you at 29! Christopher I'll see you at 28 Shelly life hasn't been the same since the omni and I couldn't go back!! And all my girls who I consider my sisters and couldn't of made it this far with out what is there to say Quine, Hoover, and Welliver You girls somehow just have the answers! The whole Holland family you've been my second family since I was 3. To Sue Brooks and Erin Collins no way I could have made it with out you thanks so much for everything. To everyone I left out the boxes were just too small! Until our next adventure peace FIO

To the crew, big up to Ponte "quick duck!". Higi man there aint no other mountain like you, "jump and shake your head" like it aint no thang. Homsey man even though you go MIA for about 3 months of the year its cool, because those are 3 months that you aren't eating my food, good times though through all the random weekends. Mac attack, dude good times soccer, and random stuff like finding that parking meter. All I have to say is wow. Burke dude, good to know you its been fun. Simmer man lots of memories, can I get a wiffle ball. Kimbo would you like to hear some random philosophy of mine. Leeron summer time is where its at/ just remember that. Debbie your just a giver what else can I say oh yea math has been cool with you. And shea the little man with the planner. Masi dude halo wouldn't be the same without you. To the track peoples all over the world, unite. Good times on the "distance runs". It has been a good long four years, I hope the best to the rest. Because I am out.

Eric- Prank calls from the fleet. Has Bellino caught up to you yet? What ever happened between you and Trot Nixon's wife? Thanks for coming to all the football games, you may be our biggest fan. Hey Tinnmouth, do you know what day it is tomorrow, I think it is day 7. You are the only guy in history to pull, "The Switch". When will you pay your tab at Steve's? Anyways, I'll pester Leigh about the gas money (he owes you $50,000, right?). Leigh- How's your portfolio? Mine is strong, to very strong. Ski weekends, snow football snow foosball (Valley Champs), Wandering Ski races (you're as overrated as DiMaggio), maybe sometimes you could go to your own condo for lunch and hot chocolate. Driving with DiDonato-- you know that his bro owns a pizza place? Football in the Foxboro parking lot- can you believe we were beaten by a bunch of fifty year-old hacks? I'll have a BLT, no tomato, but with ketchup. Harvard Model Congress was fun, do you think those girls got to Chinatown? By the way, it was you who choked on the 36th hole of our mini-golf tourney. I'll leave you with this useless trivia- Ibn Saud has everything to do with Saudi Arabia, and Mr. Antolini isn't "a really nice guy". Caroline- Fellow cuatro, the only other person who fully understands my orch humor. Florcado and orchestra super fans. By the way, when are we going to officially become part of the Sunshine Communist Party? Martin- Take me for a ride in that Audi of yours. Only you know what it means to have bloody lungs and the magic of Buffs. Sox games were fun- especially when we got to the Yankee coaches. In ten years, lets make some claymation movies- they'll be fun Dan- VO for life. Kenmar Maintenance crew. That was a lot of mulch wasn't it? Gold's Gym: Rocky, Xena, No Fat. Chocolate is my favorite Myoplex flavor. Keep the subwoofer cranking, I can hear it over the other side of town. Scott- VO buddy. #11 is my favorite hockey number- I wonder why. Talking football was always fun (especially the Demarco videos). Come up skiing again, because the first time was so much fun. Boyer-Dry- We were the two bookends on the o-line, as well as Demarco's favorite players. Keep working hard kid- you have to win a super bowl for me. Conway, DeRosa- Funniest kids on the team. I love the handshake. DeRosa, your carriage is nicely parked, but I was going to put my car there. Keep laughing, the jokes drown out the losses. Footballers. Win more than two, please. Senior Footballers. It was fun, too bad we couldn't win a few more. Kevin, Dennis, and Tim- My best friends. You guys make everyday special. We've been through a lot, and we will always have each other. Mom & Dad- The best parents anyone could ever ask for. You've inspired me everyday of my life. It's been entirely too short of a journey. Its been fun, good luck everyone!

Heather- what would I do without you? probably nothing seeing as how if im not off with you on some crazy crusade im most likely not doing anything. yeah, so I'll just go with that: sum41 dvd, steve, sweatpants!!!! "you idiots," staring line, power rangers, mandy moore, detour, dream phone. i know there are many more memories (aka examples of our extreme cases of ADD) but I cant remember them now. Ill never forget your home made games in math (guess who, name that tune, and word search) what can I say, you're my partner in crime. I love you kid annamaria- what can I say, your laugh cuts through me like a knife but I love you anyways. If you ever want to see a movie that you surely will cry in, know that you can always come to me. and now the list of our memories: ahhh, my (bleep)in back, sweatpants, a walk to remember, soo hot want to bite the heiney, "if I was I boxer id...", pit stain, quidditch boys, ill miss you when we go to college and become big, important (or in my case not so important) adults. I love you child -jessie- what can I say, youre rad, I love you kid. we sure tore it up at staring line and reel big fish! ill miss you cool kid -alyssa- I miss you -sarah- you're great, even though weve grown apart in some ways we are still close in others. Ill miss you, and have a blast with hannahbannana in europe, I only wish I could go with you guys -hannah- weve been friends forever. I wont ever forget you even though it seems like were miles apart (well we are, but anyways) I love you so much, don't ever change. -christian- you are the coolest kid I know, don't forget it, and if youre ever sad, just think of the care bears. I love our late night chats and our discussions on life- even though we always conclude negatively, ill miss you next year, have an excellent time. I love you kid, don't you go changing on me. p.s. when you get a chance do you think you could lend me some of that ghetto flavah? -danny- youre rad, I will miss you and our excellent times so much. one word: slurpees! I love our conversations on life and love, you have no idea how important they are: I love you kid and ill miss you -cari- you are officially the coolest sophomore. I miss our notes in math... tear, but its ok because we met staring line. -yc crew- I love you guys so much, you all are what make the yc so great -becca- you have no idea how much you have changed my life. I love you so much, and I will miss you, but don't worry, ill visit -allison- I love you so much. I couldn't have asked for a better sister. you are amazing in every way. I love you -mom and dad- I love you guys so much even though I don't always act like it. thank you for everything. you two, and our family mean so much to me.

Nick - Wow it seems like yesterday that we were sitting together in Kurhajetz's class freshman yr, when you busted out your "Poland spring bottle" to get the oxygen flowing in your lungs. Kean's class was questionable. Quick... what's the subjunctive of gaur? Aw ya! Well I'm so glad we became friends in the beginning, and we're almost at the end and we're still friends. We gotta hit up the GB house in the future! You're truly one of a kind! Keep smilin' Jess - friends since good old Lynch. We had some awesome times... I'll never forget you girl. You're a great friend. Keep in touch. Love ya chica! Mom - you've been there for me since the very beginning. I love you more than anything. Thanks for everything you've done! I appreciate it. You got me to where I am now and where I'll be in the future! Same goes for you too Auntie! I love you & the kids! Uncle Steven Jr. Even though you're not around to read this I want to thank you for everything! I miss and love you! You'd be proud! Mathew - Best of luck with everything in your life. Don't forget about me! Everyone else it's been one heck of a ride! Thank for all the wonderful memories.

High School Friendships Somewhere between the procrastination & the homework, & the friendships, & the yummy cafeteria food, & the calls to each other complaining about people and who u are in love with, somewhere between the phone calls to old friends & the "i miss u's" & the "i love u's" & the "what are we doing tonight's" & somewhere between all of the changing & growing, the breakouts & the bad hair days, somewhere between the classes, & the skipping classes, & the studying for tests, & the pretending to study for tests, & the downright not studying for tests. I forgot what high school is all about. I forgot what it meant to cry, I forgot that pretending to be happy doesn't make u happy & that pretending to be smart doesn't make u smart, I forgot that u can't just forget the past in fear of the future. I forgot that u can't control falling in love, & that you can't make yourself fall in love. I learned that I can love, I learned that it's okay to mess up & it's okay to ask for help & it's okay to feel like crap. I learned that sometimes the thing you want most u just can't have, I learned that the greatest thing about high school isn't the parties or the drinking or hook ups ... it's the friendships which means taking chances. I learned that sometimes the thing we want to forget are the things which we most need to talk about. But, basically, I just learned that my friends, both old and new are the most important people to me in the world and without them, I wouldn't be who I am today. So this is a thank you to all of my friends for always being there and i love u all 4ever

★ Marcy Rebecca Gordon ★

Nora- Best friends since freshmen year. I'm so glad that you came here even when you don't think it's so great. Keep pushing for what you want; you'll eventually get your freedom. Krystle (aka KRYX)- good times this past summer! Wait, how many times did we get pulled over by guys who wanted our #1! Thanks for helping me out with cheerleading. "All good things must come to an end some time but don't burn the day away...the best is yet to come" - dave matthews

WOW...it's been fun. WHS, thanks for all the memories. To all my friends, I love you guys. You have always been there, from Lincoln all the way to high school, through everything. We have had so many good times together. So many hilarious times. A tricycle never worked so well; my best friends only a couple of blocks away. I'll never forget: movie nights, Cheesecake Factory, Cape Cod, 'parasitel', dessert at my house (anytime), 'shotgun!', Nashoba, we love the same music, I make everyone love the songs that I sing, 'Clear!', monopoly, shopping, sharing lockers, meatloaf, Colleen's, car accidents, and so much more. We partied like rock stars. I'll miss you all next year. Field hockey [lets just leave it at the bus ride home from Marblehead...who's a wonderland?] and lacrosse [I'll always be monmon] were the best, good luck girls! Mom and Dad, you know I love you, but I hope you know how much I appreciate everything you do for me. Thanks. Thomas, thanks for the advice over the years, and the ten dollars. I love you.

xoxo, Moni

<SARAH MACARTHUR> It's over, so I thought I'd leave you all some stuff before I get out of here. Elise- for you, a stuffed monkey dressed in a janitor's uniform carrying a Mexican jarrito and some Safari cologne, a scary crowd of talking muffins and Bilar, a dozen limes and a salt shaker, and some extra loving for those puppies of ours. Laura- I'm leaving you a 6.2 km thick volume of the Aeneid (in Latin of course), complete with spliced in cliff scenes from 'The Last of the Mochicans', a roasted chicken from Stop & Shop, some pickles and pudding, and a list of commonly misspelled words. Coffee- for Helga, a roundtrip ticket to Eccentrica complete with Aberjona slush and without the jellyfish, a finished copy of 'The Truth About Oranges', and a RHPS actor wearing fishnets and band-aids. Grenzi- for the Grenze, a big bottomless box of chocolate (including chocolate oranges), some captive children from various Habitat trips, a ticket to New Mexico, and some more chocolate. Eric- for you, a Caramello, a 'Soccer for Dummies' book, a Welsh kid, another game of Risk, some music other than Metallica, and some wisdom from Mudvayne. WUSYG- I'll leave you guys some juice boxes. There's never enough to drink there.
We rock! Raiff- for you a gummy bear and some socks. Craig- I leave you a giant squid and three American girl paper dolls, and a stamp so you can write me from Ireland. Tom- for you, a hug and a Shakespearean sonnet. Masi- for you, a movie night of 'Bad Boys' and pumpkin bread, and some exciting days in math. Yearbook- for you people, I leave this blurb. Where have I been? I was hiding! haha I was attempting to escape censorship. But seriously, you guys owe me money.
Great times, great talks. F Block- I'll leave an exciting history on my computer. What would I do without architecture? Actually, I wouldn't graduate. Randy & Jeff are still my heroes. Scott is Bob, Sponge Bob. Mom, Dad & Shell- I'm leaving you my love & thanks, and the car. Kali- you get a snausage. For all you other people- I leave you a block of cheese, a roll of duct tape, eleven Popsicle sticks, and an upside-down radio, with no batteries. Andrew- for you I'm leaving pretzels & mustard, an afternoon nap, hot chocolate with marshmallows, an evening of absolute spontaneity, free admission to a Park Plaza convention of your choice, a night of swing dancing, meals at the Asiana Grill, a lifetime supply of wasabi, some homemade stir fry, a next step, a week in KY, a kiss (plus another for Harry Potter), a thousand memories, and my heart. There's only you.

Mom and Dad - Thank you for Everything! Mr. Burke - Thanks for all your help. Joe, Mario, Nick -

Inside jokes are forgotten, but love isn't.
To those of you who made high school a little less than a nightmare, — I LOVE YOU.

Hold your breath.
Make a wish.

Just to be politically correct, this is in alphabetical order. AJ: Bev and Foley, what a team! Amy: Mr. Carter? We ripped that class up. Anita: BEANS, dance parties, be good for Ron and Lynn next year! Brittany: "I don't take medicine from strangers," nights in the spotlight, Providence Palace, Vermont, bubblegum club, NH. You are absolutely hilarious! I don't know what I'm going to do without you next year, miss you and love you. Jeff: you're the happiest kid I know! Why have we never had a class together? Thanks for letting me borrow the movie. John and Mike: my men, Boston or Pappas?, I can always count on you guys to have a good time. Jon: bus stop buddy, you're basement's awesome, Jimmy. Kristin: shalom, wanna go bowling?, Newburyport, Cape, hey can I borrow your socks?, you always need Bill & Bobs late night. We've had some ridiculous times together, miss you next year. Maggie's Crew: you guys are all awesome! I can't wait until next summer to do it all over again. Nicks: wanna hit up the snack bar after school? "For $50 you get a good conversation and an unlimited supply of animal crackers and lemonade." Robyn: its 3 A.M. what do you want to do...get some signs, P-Town, LEXGAP, Bedford Farms, thunderbirds, Fen-Yang reserved parking, bonkers style, you have way too much energy! Miss you next year. Richard and Josie: my second parents, thanks for always having the cabinets stocked with diet coke, ketchup, and nutella, I'm gonna miss walking in your house next year. Shannon: zucchini, snow bound, you're the blondest blonde I know. Stef: shalom, Mr. Beck's class, you're married right? Stet: Providence Palace?, Pom Pom, pin war, NH, bubblegum club, Funchester just hasn't been the same without you sis, love you. Dad: Johnnybabes, you have left the biggest impression on me, you have been an amazing role model for the past 18 years, and I am going to miss you so much next year. I love you. Mom: Les, now what are you going to do when Johnnybabes goes to California? We are complete opposites, but we get along like best friends. I have learned so much from you over the years, and I am forever grateful. Miss you and love you. Dan: Son, where are you? I couldn't ask for a better brother, good luck in all your endeavors.

"Raise your glass high, let the wine of friendship never run dry."

Homsey: Great times man! There have been ups and downs but we've encouraged and supported each other through it all. Good times at tourneys and in the Benz-haha. HALO! I can't believe you soaked Sheridan in Florida Slimmer: You were my inspiration to become a better person. We've done everything from sleepovers to sports, to trips. HALO! Good times in Vermont. When you, your dad, and I knocked that tree down and then made that bonfire. Thanks for the water that night when You and Steve were over. Brett: OOOOH Brett. Where to start? We've lived close to each other for our whole lives. But we became great friends about three years ago. I couldn't think of a better person to have close by that I can talk to and hang out with. Although there is a lot of noise in your house it's a good time! Wish you and Ashley the best. Fitz: Good times in the Benz and ur basement! MAAAAAN did we have fun! Burrito, "Friday", Playin NHL '94, "Swingers" HALO! Ur the one who always made sure I Didn't do anything stupid when I was about to. DJ: You've been a loyal friend to me. Always sticking up for me and helping me when I needed it. You're like my big brother. Good times at your house, HALO, sharing stories, laughing at Homsey haha, Breakers, Doing Brett Impressions. Blackham: We've been friends ever since the first grade. But wrestling was really what Made us become better friends. Good times in the Cherokee, at the gym, at tournaments, FLORIDA, Your Basement. HALO. Cory: We are "THE RICH AND THE FAMOUS." Good times getting those "rims" for the car, chillin at ur house, Plum Island, Homsey Jokes, Rich Jokes haha. We'll always be there for each other! Masi: Good times at your house. HALO! I'll always miss your HILARIOUS comments haha. You're like a big teddy bear orice people get To know you! Intimidating on the outside, but loving on the inside. Jeremy: Luv u man. You always have a home here with my family! Mac: You were positive and listened to what I had to say. Bones is a PHAT movie haha. Alyssa: Good times in photo and on the weekends. Always here to talk! Krysten: C: I've never met anyone as random as you haha. "Chewbacca", Newbury Comics, Driving around in my car, "OH MY GOD is that a coop?" Krista: I'm glad I was able to get to know you become someone you could Turn to for advice. Jeremy and you were made for each other. Take care of him. We've Definitely become almost like a little family. You, Jeremy, Mike, and I. Cortane: I am psychio when it comes to predicting things that have happened involving you. I'll always keep your secret to myself haha. Jenn F: It was fun going to Devon's house and chillin there. We'll always be good friends. Meg M: You're definitely the kindest and most positive person I know. You look at life as an adventure. You've been there to talk, listen, and to joke around. Mom: You have been with me throughout my school career. Striving to make me a great student. I love you and want you to know that no matter how hard it was to succeed, I wouldn't take that experience back for anything. Dad: You've been my role model for 18 years. Taught me to stay strong, do what's right, do my best, and to treat others the way I want to be treated. Thank you for watching me in Sports! I love you. Meghan: You're the best sist a brother could ask for. Take care of Guppy! I love you! "Life moves pretty fast, If you don't stop and take a look around, you could miss it!"

RYAN SHERIDAN'S CONFESSION

The truth comes out... finally

Throughout my at times "illustrious", and at other times "infamous" but often outright insane career at WHS, many stories have sprung up. Most of which, I brought upon myself, through some exaggeration or other "stories" gone wrong. Lets start off with the most infamous story, the Patriots 1998 AFC championship game. The was that there was two limos going to the game and that we would be sitting in a luxury box. Somehow the entire grade, had become invited. This story was NOT TRUE. There were never Pat's playoff tickets, and at the time the Patriots stadium never even had a luxury box. Nor have I ever owned a Hummer. Many rumors earlier this year sprang up on weekends about me throwing potential parties at the golf course, these are no true. In a much older story there was a rumor that I intended to build a wrestling stadium in my back yard, again, not true. Some of the smaller stories that had little or no truth behind them are a hockey scholarship to private school and the Coca Cola girl. Now the Extreme Championship Wrestling (ECW) situation is a little different than all the others, mainly because while I was backstage at many ECW matches, I never once appeared on camera or was ever under contract with the company. Alright that's about it for the untruths, if you have any other questions about them, feel free to ask me, I WANT TO COME CLEAN ON EVERYTHING I am sure that I forgot some things but those are the major ones. Now for the truth, probably the most enjoyable nights of my life have been the six, all school parties I have thrown I could get into certain events and people, but truth be told... Annesse, you can have the door from the closet you broke, I got to be Surgi Samsonov for a night, Connelly, you chose the wrong time to go to the bathroom, O'Brien why was there a melon on my kitchen floor? Everyone else I may possibly write about has since moved on and graduated, but in the end we're all just doing it to keep McGee and Perenick on their toes. Every punishment from those were well worth it and I would even venture to say that I owe you guys one more. At least for old times sake. Other memorable moments include my ten sit ups atop the ice cream machine, licking some random girl that I didn't even know's face, win springs in the cafe with no shirt on, the night at Monday Night Raw with the whole crew in the Fleet, and most other dares that were given by the bottle. Man I miss that group. We need to break it out one last time, maybe at my party. Hopefully my best days are ahead, both with my upcoming wrestling season, (by the time you read this hopefully I will be awaiting my state championship ring to be made.) and with my college experience (assuming i make it into a college) Just remember, you shouldn't take it too seriously cause you will never get out alive. Have a good summer and a good life More importantly. I STILL OWE YOU GUYS ONE MORE RAGER

There's so much that I would put here if I had the luxury of time and intelligence, But alas, due to linguistic and spacial restraints the potential beauty, poignance, meaning, and honesty of this was lost because I can't curse and/or tell people off.

Reminiscence

When contentment lacks, I'll look fondly back O'er my shoulder at memories aching.
Long hiding sharp tears that tempted dulled eyes,
For what can keep the heart from breaking?

The years have been cruel, and I've played the fool
In games of love and misery binding.
But throughout it all, in there lies the fall
Of innocence lost and perpetual finding.

Now sadly I part, with such heavy heart,
For nothing is ever quite what it seems.
Whilst anguish and sorrow give way to tomorrow,
To find in the end that life is a dream.

JP: Big sexy octet, what would WHS be without you? Will: Voice of an angel! I like you a lot underneath it all, wink! You love it... Octet ladies- if you remember nothing else, remember this: Its all in the eyebrows! Kate, Kara, Jess and Sammy- alto pridel! Yeah men! Danielle. Ummm sketchy? Good luck! Lauren: cameltoe? Along. CANADA baby! You got NO game, beavertails, thank you! Chorus? Disney! Chave it... Kara: memories...nair, rapping! Props to the waterpolo team for being the curviest bunch of ladies I've ever met! Tat: My love! Play! You are my biggest corruptor! The Wiz '03- Munch it! Lucy-honorary munchie! Varsity Chem with Ice-Yock: Sometimes, when ammonium and a hot plate love each other very much... Sarah+Art buddies: is nothing orange? Rachel: You're everyone's dream come true, thanks for letting me borrow your brother! Crew: We're just a bunch of kids high on life-Way to be pure! Jeff: You extremely tall albino, when's the wedding? There's a light in your eyes, Candy canel! On being awkward- "Hi Mrs. Proch-Wilson!...Wow, this place is so beautiful." Em-Grandma! My princess, can you find the ___? Colette & Mon, how could things have worked out so well? The perfect trio, thanks for always being there with open arms, cookie dough and granny parties. Sorry for spewing brownie all over your wall/face. I will always remember on the beach at Cape Cod Dutch ovens, weenie! "If its on the wall its up for grabs!" rub my lip, aeown! Collapsing in laughter over who knows what. The helicopter, bumping, the bed, oh, you know, discharge! Spoons, just like butta! Pat Tom Rusty Suze Candy+Ron: thanks for having such great kids! Mom&Dad, we made it through, thank you for helping me along the way. Lil and Mar/Ginger and Bucky: Try not to beat each other up when I'm gone! I love you. "I always knew looking back on us crying would make us laugh, but I never thought that looking back on us laughing would make us cry."Love, Kate

To all my friends I wish you well as you move on. You have made a lasting impression on my life. I love you all. Remember all of the good times we had Em -Don't worry I will get up to see you in Maine this summer. You kept the musical interesting, and don't forget I am an honorary GS. Which finger can't I put it on? Tammi - How many times have we eaten out? The seat will always be yours. If you only knew what Matt has said... We took the scenic route to the Rockingham Mall. Our dead-end? Teaching your cuz how to drive. Liz -Don't worry your secret is safe with me, you're a perfect angel. I mean you would never say a bad word or be sarcastic. Paintball, and Piddittle. Kara - Drummers forever. You made marching band a blast. Paintball, and Piddittle. C - You have been a huge part of my life, and made high school great. Never forget all the good times we had together, and remember I am the big brother you always wished you had. We have to spend another day together in Boston. Thanks for everything. D - A lot has changed with us, and I am glad, b/c you are a great friend. I can be sweet and, you know it. How is the Maine sweatshirt doing? Steve - The backstage door. Jen - "RED LIGHT" I guess you missed that one. He's touching me. It's not mine, its mike's. Fredrick's. Prissy - I would never poke you. Rocky was a blast. I will always be here for all of you. Thanks to you guys my freshman year was one of the best years of my life. Things just won't be the same without you. So follow your dreams, and follow your heart. They are the key to happiness.

Putting on a studious air, Freshman quietly takes a test in what students call the FLOA or the Foreign Language Open Area...

Mr. Demayo returns for his 15th try at Freshman year in Winchester High School...well actually his 18th... but seriously Mr. Demayo is a much loved substitute teacher at Winchester High School.
